TROUBLE AT LAHAINA FROM THE JAPANESE STRIKERS

ONE JAPANESE KILLED BY POLICE.

Town is Strongly Guarded and Quiet.

Honolulu and Wailuku Militia and Police On the Ground.

(By Wireless Telegraph.)

(From the Advertiser Staff Correspondent.)

LAHAINA, May 21.—Expedition with field piece landed at eleven p. m. Situation quiet. A conference was immediately held between Mr. Klamp of Hackfeld's, Sheriff Baldwin and the Pioneer manager.

A collision occurred on Saturday night between the police and the Japs. One Japanese was killed and three were wounded. The dead man was buried today.

The Japs fired first. The Japanese today threatened to kill the Koreans if they went back to work. They also want to kill the Japanese cane contractor, who is now safely concealed, but they threaten to kill him yet.

The Kaanapali men want to go to work, but are intimidated by the Lahaina Japs.

The strikers object to a luna, a Polish Jew, because they say he is a Russian.

The consul's representative is conferring with the Japanese committee.

Fourteen hundred men were massed before the courthouse Saturday night, but made no demonstration.

Sheriff Henry advises taking ringleaders tonight, but Manager Scrimgeour counsels waiting till morning. Police and troops will then occupy the camps.

Company "I," Capt. Bal, of Wailuku is patrolling the town and there are now a hundred men on duty. The field piece is at the courthouse.

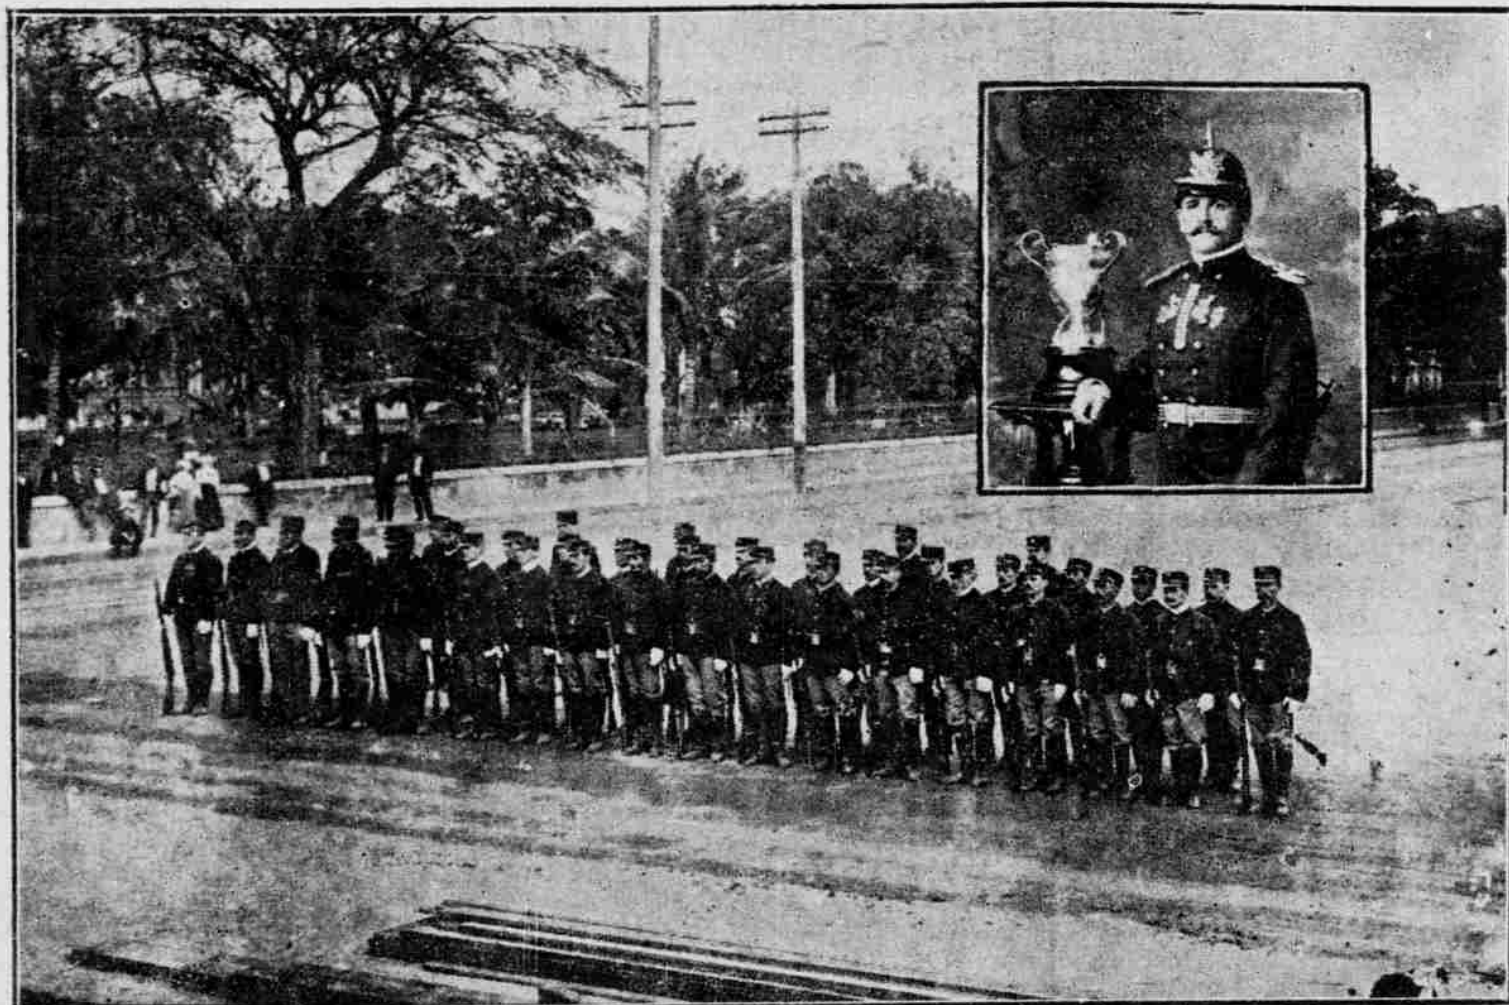

Sixty special officers sworn in at Wailuku are here on duty. TAYLOR.

Amid the strains of "Aloha Oe" and "Hawaii Ponoi" the Hawaiian Territory Army transport Kinau pulled out at 3:45 yesterday afternoon, her rails lined with boys in khaki, while on the wharf a crowd of friends, sisters, sweethearts and wives waved a farewell. It was a new role for the Kinau, but for excitement she had the big white troopships of Uncle Sam's government off for the woods. Nearly a hundred men went to the relief of Lahaina on the steamer in response to the urgent request for aid from Sheriff Baldwin of Maui.

The appeal for aid against the rioting strikers came to High Sheriff Henry early yesterday afternoon in the shape of a wireless message from Sheriff Baldwin as follows:

"HENRY, Honolulu. 'Fierce rioting last night, one killed, two wounded. Rioting continues, Leslie Baldwin on way. Need assistance. 'BALDWIN.'"

REVIVALIST OSTROM WILL HAVE SOME HARD WORK CLOSING WEEK

Hundreds of voices joined in songs of praise last night in the closing meeting of a notable day of the revival campaign. Yesterday was a day of victory for Christ all along the line. The first meeting addressed by Dr. Ostrom was at the Portuguese Protestant church. The spiritual awakening there was remarkable, and there was a great and inspiring response to the appeal of the evangelist. Many enrolled themselves as soldiers under the banner of the Cross. But that meeting was a foretaste of what was to happen throughout the day.

In the afternoon the great Kawaiahao church was crowded with men, women and children of many races. It was an inspiring sight and a notable occasion in that historic edifice which has seen so many history-making events. Here where Kamehameha III first pronounced the Hawaiian motto: "Ua mau ke ea o ka aina i ka pono"—"The life of the land is established in righteousness," the same motto was reiterated in song and address yesterday. It was very fitting that this great campaign, whose purpose is so fittingly expressed by that motto, should have one of its greatest rallies in this church—the very cradle of Christianity in these Islands.

Yesterday many of the delegates to the meeting of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association arrived in the city on the island steamers and numbers of the pastors were on the platform at the afternoon service and also in the evening. At the afternoon meeting Dr. Ostrom gave the people a special opportunity to meet the visiting pastors and workers and many came forward to grasp them by the hand.

At last night's service Central Union church was packed to the doors. In response to the invitation of the evangelist many signified their intention to ally themselves with Christ. There was an inspiring after-meeting at which others stood up and confessed Christ. This week will be the last of the campaign, and it will be the most interesting week. The sessions of the Association convention beginning Tuesday will be of special interest and doubly important on account of the Bible conference that Dr. Ostrom will conduct in connection with it. There will be the usual evening meetings. A religious census of the city is to be taken this week, the idea being to find out the religious affiliation or preference of every person in the city.

The Christian Endeavorers are to have their annual gathering this week also, and tonight they will attend the union service at Central Union church. It is desired that the different societies meet at their various churches and march in a body to the church. The annual sunrise prayer meeting will occur on Wednesday at 6 a. m. in Central Union church.

AT CENTRAL UNION.

Central Union church was packed to the doors last night when the Union Evangelistic Meeting began. A song service led by Mr. Hillis opened the meeting. Rev. C. E. Shields of Hilo offered prayer and a hymn was sung. Dr. Ostrom read the scripture lesson from the 16th chapter of Luke. Mr. Fred. Butler then sang a most beautiful solo, "The Publican," a musical rendering of the story of the two prayers—that of the Pharisee and that of the publican. Dr. Kincaid announced the offering, saying that the offerings were meeting the expenses well, there being but $200 left to be raised. During the receiving of the offering Mr. Hillis led the big chorus in "Angels of Jesus." Dr. Ostrom then gave the ministers and others in the audience an opportunity to give scripture texts to the people. There was a large response.

The evangelist took as his text II Cor. 7:10: "For Godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of; but the sorrow of the
